Testimonial

"The Toronto Search Associates Fair was definitely well run and everybody knew where they needed to go and at what time, which is not true for all job fairs where chaos and panic are the typical emotions for the day. We had no problem meeting the Principals of all of the schools that we wanted to speak with and we ended up being offered a very desirable package in a country that we really wanted to work in. Congratulations to Ray Sparks from Search Associates who organized the event."

How Does Search Associates Work?

Recruiters from around the world annually attend Search Associates Fairs. The fairs are by invitation only and, intentionally, are kept small, with a favorable candidate/recruiter ratio.

While attendance at a recruiting fair is the best way to secure a position, schools often find they need teachers at unexpected times during any given school year. Vacancies develop throughout the year, especially during July and August. Search Associates will actively seek to place registered candidates in these positions.

Each year Search Associates places over 1275 teachers, administrators and interns in international schools throughout the world, making us one of the larger of the international school placement organizations. However, it is our personalized approach to the schools and candidates we serve which we would most like to emphasize.

Opportunities in International Education

Scattered throughout the world, there are hundreds of outstanding International Schools which employ thousands of teachers and administrators. While each school is a unique independent institution, they commonly share the following characteristics:

- the language of instruction is English
- the academic programs are typically American or British
- the multinational student body is a pleasure to teach
- there are virtually no discipline problems
- the teaching staffs are as multi-national as the student body
- teachers are warmly appreciated by a supportive international community
- the teachers have an exciting lifestyle with ample opportunity to travel and pursue professional goals
- salaries and benefits in most schools are excellent
- most initial contracts are for two years and virtually all include round-trip air fare - subsequent contracts are usually for one year at a time

SEARCH Associates-Working For You

Becoming a candidate with SEARCH offers much more than simply attending a recruitment fair. We provide you with personal service by having a senior associate work with you to answer your questions and to help you contact schools. As a candidate you will receive a daily update of job openings from over 550 schools that we work with around the world. You will have access to a database of these schools, which provides you with valuable information. Your first attendance to any of our 12 international SEARCH fairs is FREE. All of the above services are available to a candidate for up to 3 years, or until you are placed.

Your SEARCH associate works with candidates throughout the year. This is what sets us apart from other "weekend" fairs. With SEARCH, the end of the fair is not the end of our commitment to you. Many candidates continue to get placed after the fairs are over because we are in direct contact with schools on a regular basis and many still require teachers for unfilled positions. SEARCH Associates provide services that extend far more than merely attending a fair.
